

Youth Exchange «I-LivAlps»+ free participation Annual Conference of CIPRA

Do you live in the Alps? Do you care about the future of the Alps? Would you like to get in touch with other young people like you? Would you like to participate in the Annual Conference of CIPRA International about spatial planning?

We are looking for you!

CIPRA, the international commission for the protection of the Alps invites you, to join our youth exchange from 27th September to 1st October 2017!

We bring together people and organizations across linguistic, cultural, geographical and political boundaries that are committed to sustainable development in the Alps. Meet interesting people and get in touch with our alpine wide network of Representatives from society, administration and NGOs.

In the Frame of this Workshop we will visit the Alpine Convention (tbc) and the city of Innsbruck, having cheerful dinner gatherings and shared travel experiences.

The highlight will be the free participation in the Annual Conference of CIPRA at 29th and 30th of September 2017.

As we require at least four persons per Alpine-Country, please feel free to share this invitation
